Thank you for playing your part to beat cancer

Dear Ray,

Thank you so much for your donation of £10.00 in support of Cancer Research UK. Gifts like yours help to fund the research projects required to find new ways to prevent, diagnose and treat cancer.

With the help of supporters like you, we've done incredibly well so far. In the last 40 years, cancer survival has doubled in the UK. Now, with your generous donation, we'll be able to accelerate our progress towards a world where people can all live longer, better lives, free from the fear of cancer. Thank you for playing your part. Together we will beat cancer.

Yours sincerely,

Kathryn Toner
Fundraising Manager

Gift Aid:

If you agreed that your gifts should be treated as Gift Aid donations, then please read the below carefully.

Thank you for agreeing that every one of your gifts should be treated as a Gift Aid donation. This enables us to reclaim the tax on any donations made to Cancer Research UK in the last four years prior to this year and all future donations until we are notified otherwise. This means each gift you make is worth 25% more to us, at no extra cost to you.

An important point regarding your Gift Aid donations: You must be a UK taxpayer and you understand that if you pay less Income Tax and/or Capital Gains tax than the amount of Gift Aid claimed on your donations in that tax year it is your responsibility to pay any difference.

If your communication to us includes personal information about your experiences of cancer, please be assured that, in line with General Data Protection Regulations, while we have stored this information on our system to enable us to respond to you, this will not be used by Cancer Research UK for any other purposes.

Thank you for saying YES to more dementia research

Dear Ray,

With our research funding deadline looming, we urgently needed your support, and I'm so grateful to you for stepping up when it mattered.

Lecanemab and donanemab may be the first treatments to slow the progress of Alzheimer's disease, but I truly believe they won't be the last, with the help of wonderful gifts like yours.

Your kind gift of £10.00 could enable us to give the green light to even more passionate scientists and their potentially life-changing projects.

You could help us get a better grasp of what causes dementia. You could help discover ways to diagnose it earlier and more accurately. You could even help investigate how to prevent it in the first place.

You and I both know that a cure will not be with us overnight, and your gift could also help people living with dementia right now. You could help fund research that improves the care people receive and find new ways of making it easier to live with.

So, thank you again for enabling us to say YES to more exciting research projects. Most importantly, thank you for helping to create a world where dementia no longer devastates so many lives.

With gratitude,

Dr Richard Oakley
Associate Director of Research and Innovation

Forget Me Not Appeal.

16th May 2024

Dear Ray,

I'm very grateful for your gift of £10.00 to our Forget me not Appeal and for wearing your badge in honour of somebody you love.

Your kindness will mean that fewer people will have to face the heartache and trauma dementia brings on their own. That's because your gift will help fund our dedicated Dementia Advisers to be there for families who are struggling, providing timely advice, expert guidance and the emotional support that means the world to people who are feeling isolated and scared.

My mum has late-stage dementia and lives in a care home now. So, I know how tough it is – and how important it is to have somebody to talk to, to share your worries and fears.

I also know how much your support will matter in the long term. We're on the verge of making important research discoveries that could transform the way dementia is treated and diagnosed. Every donation could mean extra hours in the lab for the scientists looking for those all-important breakthroughs.

So thank you again for being there for people living with dementia right now – and for helping to bring us closer to ending the devastation caused by dementia for good.

Warmest regards,

Kate Lee

Dear Mr McCulloch,

I hope you enjoyed reading your newsletter, the first edition showcasing the brand new name, Your Marie Curie. Your newsletter that tells your stories, and highlights all of the wonderful things you have helped make possible.

I'm writing to thank you for your kind gift of £10.00, in memory of a loved one. Your support will help us to reach more people and their loved ones with expert, personalised care, ensuring a dignified end of life.

As you may remember reading, I see firsthand what personalised care means to people. A Muslim family wanted to take the body of their loved one to Pakistan and I stayed after my shift to make sure the process ran smoothly. We go above and beyond for patients and their loved ones, bringing compassion when they need it most. Your support helps us do this, for which we are so grateful, it really does make the world of difference.

Thank you for helping us be there for more people, wherever they are and whatever their illness.

With warm wishes,

Anisa

Dear Mr McCulloch,

I'm writing to you today to thank you for your kind gift of £10.00, in memory of your loved one. Your support plays a vital role in helping me and other Marie Curie Nurses and Healthcare Assistants provide expert, personalised care to people at the end of life and their loved ones, whatever the illness.

You may remember reading about Phil's family in my letter to you, who were struggling with complex care needs until we were able to help. Your gift will help us to reach more families like Phil's, giving them the support they need to maintain their quality of life.

It is because of you that we are able to make such a difference to people when it's needed most.

Once again, thank you for your kindness and generosity. Together, as part of our compassionate community, we can continue to provide support to those in need, making a difference for so many.

Best wishes,

Dear Mr McCulloch

Thank you so much for your incredibly generous donation of £10 to our Summer Appeal. I'm so grateful that you've chosen to help make the world a better place for children. And I know that both Anastase and Anne in Rwanda and the many other Save the Children-trained midwives and staff around the world are grateful too.

Your gift will help provide children and new mothers like Beata* and baby Beni*, from Mahama, with the health care they deserve.

Beata's first pregnancy had complications, which meant she had no choice but to face the long, two-hour journey on a bumpy road and travel miles away from her home to give birth. This left her feeling worried about her second pregnancy.

Thanks to supporters like you, we now can deliver c-sections on-site at our new clinic right here in Mahama. The newly upgraded clinic, equipped with facilities and medical doctors capable of performing c-sections, offered her a sense of security she hadn't known before.

140 women like Beata now give birth safely at Mahama every month.

"All I wish is that they grow up healthy – that's my only wish for my children." – Beata
Thank you so much for caring about children like Beni. By standing together with compassionate and generous supporters like you, we can help children from Mahama and beyond take back what they have lost to conflict and get the health care they deserve.

Thank you for turning hope for new treatments into action

Dear Ray,

I want to thank you, personally, for your very kind gift of £20.00 to our recent Dementia Research Nurses Appeal.

It's incredibly heartening to know that when our new nurses start work, they will have supporters like you on their side. With your help, they will do their utmost to ensure that more people are given the opportunity to take part in clinical trials, which could help bring us closer to the breakthroughs we all want to see for people living with dementia.

Since I joined Alzheimer's Society in April, I've been inspired by the sense of community amongst staff, volunteers and, of course, wonderful supporters like you. Together, I am confident we can continue to accelerate the progress of research, until we can finally end the devastation caused by dementia for good.

So thank you again for your generosity and your understanding. Thank you, too, for giving me such a warm welcome to Alzheimer's Society. We will appoint our first new Dementia Research Nurses very soon, and I look forward to updating on you on their work, and on the progress that you're helping to make possible.

Dear Ray,

I am incredibly grateful for your gift of £10.00, especially as it comes at what can be one of the most difficult times of the year for people affected by dementia.

Your kindness and care will reach those struggling to cope with dementia, helping to make their lives that bit brighter.

As you may know from personal experience, Christmas can make dementia symptoms worse. The joy of the season, memories of the past and expectations to be happy and have fun are all in stark contrast to the despair and loneliness many people feel.

Derek and his wife Margaret, who has dementia, found the Christmas period particularly distressing. However, support from Alzheimer's Society made such a difference. Our support meant both Derek and Margaret had someone on hand to listen and help them plan how to navigate the specific stresses and strains of dementia over the festive season.

Derek explained, 'Alzheimer's Society helps people get through Christmas. Before we met them we had nothing in our lives and we were closed down. But from the moment we spoke to them on the phone, it shone a light into our life.'

Thank you once again and I hope that the enclosed Christmas decoration brings some brightness to your home and reminds you of our deep gratitude.

Dear Mr McCulloch,

Every year, I'm grateful for the dedication and generosity of our supporters. By committing your money, energy and time, you're helping us make discoveries that are giving more people more precious time with their loved ones. People like Trish, Angel and Abdullah, whose stories feature in these pages – and millions more people in the UK who've been impacted by a cancer diagnosis.

We made several important breakthroughs in 2023/24, which I hope you enjoy reading about – from a new pill to prevent breast cancer in high-risk women to personalised prostate cancer treatment. We've also campaigned for a turning point for cancer, where more cancers are diagnosed earlier, more people receive the treatment they need, and more cancers are prevented from occurring in the first place. This progress is hard-earned and only made possible by your commitment to our cause.

In my update last year, I reflected on the financial challenges faced by Cancer Research UK and the charity sector more broadly, largely due to rising inflation. This challenge remains, and it means we need to invest more on research to maintain its real-term value. As chief executive, I remain committed to protecting and increasing our research spend, making sure the money you give goes to funding the best science with the biggest potential to save and improve lives.

What gives me and all of us hope is the opportunity that lies before us. Among the cancer research community, there is excitement that cutting-edge new tools can help us go further and faster, speeding up progress so that everybody can live longer, better lives, free from the fear of cancer.

Together, through the work of more than 4,000 scientists, researchers, clinicians, doctors and nurses, our research is improving and extending the lives of people affected by cancer and will continue to do so for generations to come.

Thank you for supporting Cancer Research UK.

Together we are beating cancer.

Yours sincerely,

Thank you for helping us put a deadline on dementia

Dear Ray,

With our research funding deadline drawing near, your support means more than ever. I am incredibly grateful for your generosity during this pivotal moment of dementia research.

One in three people living with dementia don't have the diagnosis they need. This is unacceptable, and together, we can work towards ending the devastation caused by dementia.

Your kind gift of £10.00 could enable us to fund more vital research projects, leading to pioneering breakthroughs in dementia research and earlier and more accurate diagnosis for people living with dementia.

With the compassion you have shown, we could be on our way to approving more and more world-class research applications. Support like yours makes it possible to help people living with dementia today, but also provides hope for people living with the condition in the future.

So, thank you again for helping us to put a deadline on dementia, and fund even more ground-breaking research projects that will continue to improve the lives of people living with dementia and their loved ones.

Dear Supporter

Thank you so much for purchasing 12 raffle tickets in the New Year Raffle 2025 - you could be our £15,000 jackpot winner!

It is the generosity of people like you that helps Alzheimer's Society provide support to people living with dementia. Every ticket purchased helps fund vital research and expert support.

As you may have seen in your raffle pack, the funding of support services has greatly helped Cynthia and Raymond who turned to Alzheimer's Society for support following Raymond's dementia diagnosis. By participating in our raffle, you help ensure people living with dementia don't have to face it alone.

Thank you again for your support, and good luck!

Yours Sincerely,

Jenny Bazley
