Dear Ray,

Thank you for supporting people living with dementia this Christmas

I am extremely grateful for your kind gift of £10.00 following our festive edition of Thanks to you. It is wonderful to know that we have such a loyal and caring community, providing help and hope to everyone living with dementia.

When I was first diagnosed five years ago, the Dementia Support Line was a huge help for me as I just felt so overwhelmed and depressed. There have been many times when I didn't think I could carry on but, thankfully, when that happens, I can call them. The Dementia Advisers talk to me, calm me down, find out what the problem is and help me deal with it.

It's heartbreaking to think that so many people like me will struggle over Christmas, but with your help the Dementia Advisers will be there in their time of need.

Although I can no longer do the big family Christmas I used to enjoy, I'm looking forward to celebrating this year with my husband and my kids. To read more about my story please turn to pages 4 and 5 of your copy of Thanks to you.

If you have any questions about your donation or other ways to help, then please give the Supporter Care team a call on 0330 333 0804 or email enquiries@alzheimers.org.uk.

Wishing you and your family a merry Christmas!

Best wishes

Dear Mr McCulloch,

Your truly kind donation of £10 has reached us and I want to express my warm and very sincere thanks to you for your ongoing support of The Salvation Army and for responding so thoughtfully to my appeal letter to you. I'm sorry it has taken a little while to send you this letter.

In my letter, I described how The Salvation Army, across the UK, every day, is putting the command to 'love your neighbour' into action in meaningful and practical ways. Through community cafes, food banks, the provision of warm winter clothes for families that really need them, day centres and lunch clubs for older people, we are working tirelessly and with joy and hope, to help people who are going through the toughest of times to see and know they have a friend alongside them.

Your donation in our hands really will enable us to love our neighbours - the people living in the communities we serve, who need our help the most. Believe me, you really are making a difference to someone's life with your kindness. That is a wonderful thing for you to do.

Words never seem enough to express my heartfelt and genuine thanks to you for your support but may the warmth behind my words reach you this day, as you read this letter and may God bless you for your continuing thoughtfulness.

With sincere appreciation,

Nick Coke

Dear Mr McCulloch,

I'm writing to let you know that your recent donation of £10 is safely in our hands. I'm so very grateful for your continued kindness and thoughtfulness. Indeed, the fact that you have chosen to support us this Easter must indicate you already know that in our hands, your gift will achieve so much. Thank you, with all sincerity and warmth.

For me and for The Salvation Army, Easter is a time of such joy, rich in the symbolism that hope and faith will always triumph over darkness and adversity. In our work in communities across the UK, we see every day how our faith and our belief in people - along with our practical help and support - can make such a difference. For people who really have lost so much, knowing that we are alongside them, strengthening and renewing their self-confidence can bring about amazing changes.

Recently, I heard a woman we'd supported who had suffered horrific abuse say something that really moved me - 'I'd almost forgotten what it's like to be happy'. As a body of committed people, it's our privilege to support so many people in this way. It's what we are here for. But (and you know what I'm going to say) we really couldn't do it without you and your continuing belief in us and the valuable support you give to us. You are as important in bringing about change in people and in giving hope as we are. I hope that thought stays with you today and my gratitude comes through as genuinely as it is intended through this letter.

I send you my blessings this Easter Season and of course my sincere thanks.

Yours sincerely,

Dean Pallant

Dear Mr McCulloch,

We know things are hard right now, so we can't stress enough how grateful we are for your generous donation. Living with cancer has never been tougher and your donation has never been more important.

Thank you for also letting us know we can claim Gift Aid – this means your donation will go even further.

Cancer delays are having a huge impact on people living cancer and it can take days, weeks or even months to receive a diagnosis or treatment.

No one should have to wait for crucial support and thanks to your generosity, we can be there for people when they need us most, so they don't have to face these difficult times alone.

Thanks to your donation, we can help people like Jules cope with the emotional, financial, and physical impacts of longer delays in cancer treatment.

Your support means that Macmillan can keep doing whatever it takes to support people living with cancer.

So, thank you again Mr McCulloch on behalf of Jules and everyone else you will be helping with your generosity.

You're making a real difference.

Best wishes,

Macmillan Cancer Support

Dear Mr McCulloch

Thank you so much for your kind donation of £10.00 in response to our Macmillan September Prize Draw, and for your Gift Aid declaration.

As you know, your donations help Macmillan Cancer Support generate essential funds to help everyone with cancer live life as fully as they can. Last year we raised over half a million through our prize draws – and that's thanks to kind donations from people like you.

At Macmillan we know how a cancer diagnosis can affect so much more than your health. The generosity of our supporters allows us to help people living with cancer when they need us most. When someone is diagnosed with cancer, their worries are our worries. We will move mountains to help them live life as full as they can. Every time someone is supported by a Macmillan nurse or speaks to one of our Information and Support advisers it is because people like you made it possible.

On behalf of everyone who will benefit from your kindness and generosity, please accept our sincere thanks. Your donations are helping Macmillan to bring forward the day when everyone gets life transforming support from day one.

Lastly, I would like to remind you that the September Prize Draw closes on 24th November 2023. We will be notifying winners shortly afterwards, so look out for our letter as you may be one of our lucky winners. Good luck!

With our best wishes,

Hannah Mahoney-Smith

Dear Mr McCulloch,

Thank you for your gift to our Summer's End Appeal!

I wanted to write to you to tell you how much your recent gift to our Summer's End Appeal meant, not only to us but also to the individuals and families that we care for on a daily basis.

Your kind gift of £10.00, in memory of your love one, plays a huge part in helping families like Kerry's. With your kindness, we're able to provide comfort, relief, and a place of solace to more people who need us. You'll remember from Kerry's letter that her time here at the West Midlands Hospice turned into a collection of beautiful moments with her loved ones – that's all because of supporters like you.

Since caring for Kerry, I have worked my way up from Healthcare Assistant to Trainee Nursing Associate. Whenever times are challenging, it's stories like Kerry's and supporters like you that act as a reminder to how much compassion matters, especially during those tough times.

Thank you for supporting compassionate care.

With warm wishes,

Chloe

P.S I hope you enjoy carving out that precious time with loved ones, or taking a walk in nature with the Calendar that we sent you. I hope it acts as a reminder of the incredible difference your support makes.

Dear Mr McCulloch,

I don't know what we would do without incredibly generous people like you. Your £10.00 gift to the Macmillan Emergency Grants Appeal is the lifeline so many people with cancer need right now. Thank you for also letting us know we can claim gift aid – this means your donation will go even further.

In fact, your gift couldn't have arrived at a more crucial time. Living with cancer already comes with so many costs; from heating your home when you're getting over the side-effects of treatment, to cooking hot food and taking cabs to hospital. It's basically about doing whatever you can to feel better and get through low moments. The cost of living crisis has only made this more of a struggle.

But your support is the warmth, kindness and care that thousands of people living with cancer need this winter. It's a much-needed sigh of relief for people overwhelmed with money worries.

I want to reassure you that every gift sent to our emergency appeal is intended to directly fund the grants people living with cancer so desperately need. It may not end long-term financial challenges, but it will help at this crucial moment, right here and now. Every pound will work hard to make life that bit easier.

It's so heartening to know that supporters like you are out there, ready to stand with people with cancer at this difficult time. That you understand how now, more than ever, we are determined to do whatever it takes for those who need us most.

I really can't think of a better gift. So, from the bottom of my heart, thank you once again.

With best wishes,

Fiona Greer

You're helping make this the year nobody struggles alone with dementia.
Thank you.

Dear Ray,

Thank you so much for the extremely kind gift of £10.00 you sent after receiving our January issue of Thanks to you. It's inspiring to see so many supporters coming together to bring help and hope to people living with dementia.

You may remember me describing how helpless and wretched I felt when I was first diagnosed. It felt like I was floating out to sea, further and further away from the life I'd always known.

Because of kind people like you who send gifts to support Alzheimer's Society, I was thrown a lifeline in the form of Karen, one of their incredible Dementia Advisers. She brought me back to shore, and without her, I'd probably still be lost and adrift.

The kind gift you sent could support a Dementia Adviser like Karen. You could help someone living with dementia and their loved ones navigate the choppy waters ahead, whether that's through giving practical and expert advice, or emotional support when it all gets too much.

Through your gift, you're helping people like me. You'll be giving someone hope and perhaps even a renewed sense of purpose. You're giving them a reason to get out of bed in the morning rather than turn over and go back to sleep.

Because of the help I've received from people like you, I've gone from feeling hopeless to feeling hopeful. Thank you for throwing that lifebuoy to another person living with dementia through your wonderful gift.

Best wishes,

Chris.

Change of Company Name RSM 2000 Re The Christie Charity

As a valued supporter of The Christie Charity, we want to let you know about some recent changes we have made. These changes are purely administrative and mean we are now a self-governing charity, managing our own governance arrangements, including the appointment of independent trustees.

The Christie Charity will continue to solely support The Christie NHS Foundation Trust and its cancer patients providing enhanced services over and above what the NHS is able to fund.

We really value everything that our supporters do for us and in return we want to assure you that we are spending your donations as cost effectively as possible, with 82p of every £1 raised going directly to our cancer patients – an investment we are really proud of, and which ensures we are doing all we can to support patients and their families.

The good news is that you need take no action. Please be assured this change will not affect the service you receive in any way. The only change you will notice is that with effect from 8th February 2024, when we collect your Direct Debits, instead of RSM 2000 Ltd Re Christie Hospital, our name, RSM 2000 Re Christie Charity will appear on your bank/building society statement.

There is no need for you to complete a new Direct Debit Instruction, as details of the change will have been supplied to your bank, who may also notify you, independently. You may also see a comment on your bank statement advising you of the final payment under the old name details and the first payment under the new name / details.

The monies collected by Direct Debit will continue to be credited to RSM 2000 Ltd Re Christie Charity and you will continue to enjoy the benefits of the Direct Debit Guarantee, as detailed overleaf. If you have any questions about this change please contact us at: the-christie.appeals@nhs.net visit christies.org/regulargiving or call 0161 446 3988.

Yours sincerely

Louise Hadley
